DAY 3 TUESDAY 23RD AUSTRALIA'S BIRTHPLACE-THE ROCKS BLD

After breakfast this morning we head south to Sydney & enjoy a cuppa at Mrs Macquarie's chair on Sydney Harbour. With the arrival of the First Fleet of British ships to Australia in 1788, the foundation of a penal colony was created. Under the rule of Governor Lachlan Macquarie the penal colony slowly changed from a lawless colony to a budding free society. Macquarie established public works, banks, churches, charitable institutions and developed good relations with the indigenous people, the Aborigines. Enjoy this historic part of Australia's past here today and marvel at some beautiful sandstone buildings and landmarks that come alive in the form of the Fortune of War Hotel (Sydney's oldest pub Est 1828). Why not visit The Argyle Cut, The Garrison Church 1788 or the Sydney Harbour bridge pylon, dubbed Sydney's original lookout due to its position as the highest viewing point in Sydney when the bridge opened in 1932. For those game enough there are 200 stairs to the Pylon Lookout, 87 metres above mean sea level. But on the way up there are three levels of exhibits where you will discover the history and construction of the Sydney Harbour Bridge, the men who built it and the vision of JJC Bradfield, chief engineer. Dinner tonight with an Aussie themed night of live entertainment.
